Cambridge-based accountants and tax specialists, Andrew Webster Ltd, today celebrates 20 years in business

Andrew Webster Ltd today celebrates 20 successful years in business. Led by Andrew Webster, the firm has grown into a thriving, successful and international business with over 20 staff. The business offers accountancy and tax planning services to a wide range of local clients, including several of their very first customers.

The team intend to celebrate this milestone over the remainder of the year with a range of seminars and events.

Andrew Webster Ltd was started in July 1990 by Andrew Webster, an ex-Inland Revenue Inspector, on a self-employed basis with just one client. In those days, the offices were home-based and it was over a year before the first full-time employee was recruited. Andrew was a very early adopter of the internet and built his own website by learning HTML coding from other sites as he went. His first email campaign in 1995, possibly now described as spamming, was incredibly successful attracting new clients!

Over the years, the business, like every other, has gone through its ups and downs, with the successful and the not-so-successful ventures. However the Company has prospered with a team which has steadily and organically grown to the current number.

Andrew comments, “Andrew Webster Limited has led me along the path followed by many businesses from tiny start-up to an established Company. The team and I have learnt many lessons on the way and we have grown into a successful, vibrant group who offer business and individual clients the full range of financial and business services. 20 years in business is quite a milestone to reach and I am extremely proud of what the team has achieved. Now, we look forward to the next 20 years!”

Andrew Webster Ltd is a truly local success story, a company which has survived through thick and thin to celebrate this fantastic milestone.
